The users will be redirected to the ssl/tls ports when visiting URLs like <http://domain.com/cpanel/>, <http://domain.com/webmail/>, <http://domain.com/whm/>, etc.

You will receive an SSL certificate error warning, this can be ignored. The warning is received because we have Self-Signed SSL Certs installed for all servers. This is acceptable in our case because we're not using SSL for its second purpose - resource authenticity verification. SSL is used only for encryption of traffic, containing critical data.
